Portorož, Slovenia

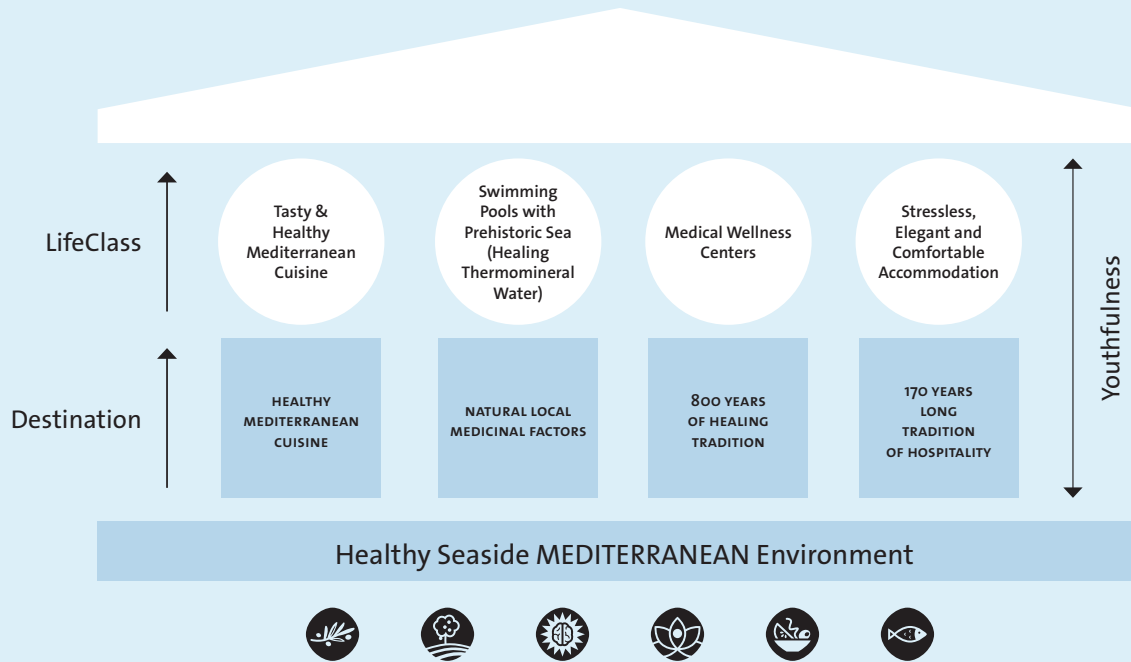

Portorož is located in the northernmost part of the Mediterranean, which is also the northern limit, to where the olive trees grow. Here, we can find the sub Mediterranean climate due to the location which, in combination with the »jerina« or »terra rossa« red soil and hardworking population of Istria is the basis for the growth and production of high-quality olive oil, wines and Mediterranean vegetables.

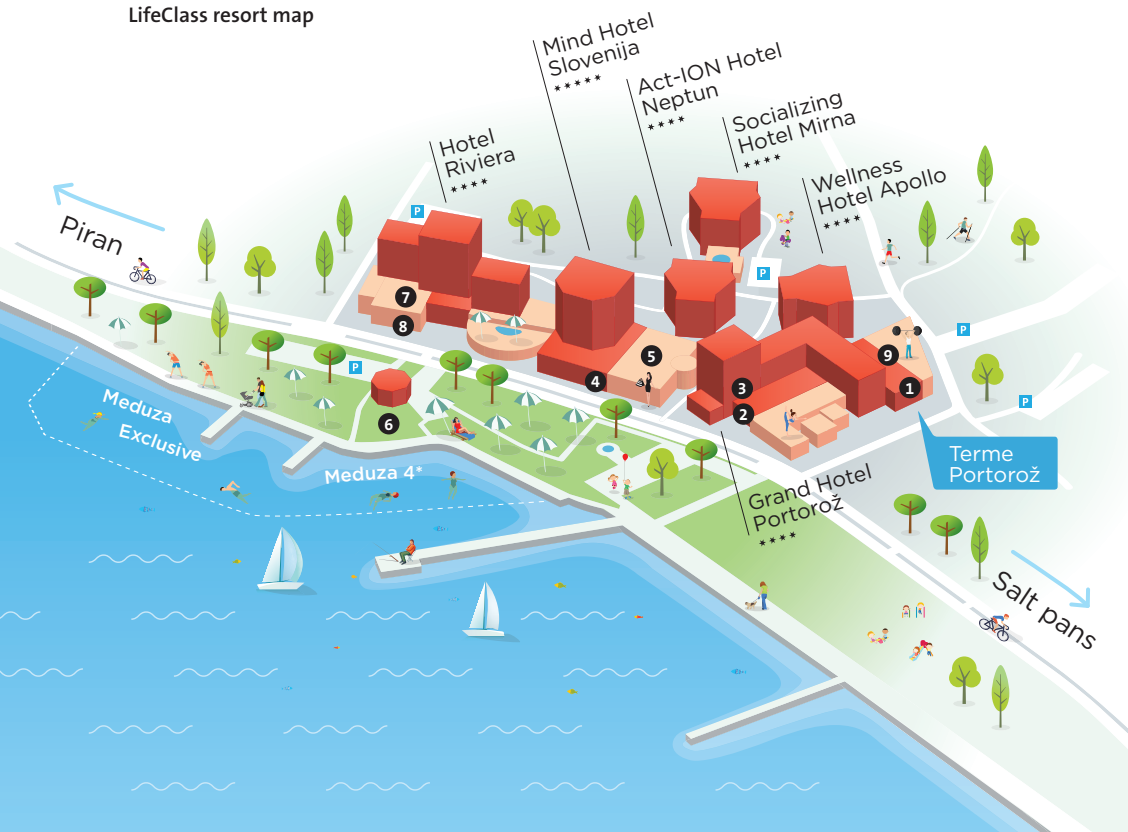

The sea is rich with fishes – especially blue fish like sardine and mackerel, as well as white fish like sea bass, mullets, John Dory etc. The hinterland hills, on the other hand, are rich with prestigious gifts of mother nature – truffles. The Mediterranean diet consists of all of the above and is the basis for a long, healthy and quality life.

The World of Healthy Experiences

The natural, healthy Mediterranean environment, 800 years of alternative medicine tradition and 150 years of hotel management tradition as well as healthy Mediterranean cuisine and 5 local natural medicinal factors combined with the state-of-the-art medicine have formed a unique recipe in Europe for maintaining youthfulness.

MIND & SALT CULTIVATION

The story of the Mind Hotel Slovenija 5* has started in the 13th century in a small coastal town. In Portorož, that time was an era of enlightened thinkers – the monks from a benedictine monastery, and skilful white-crystal producers – the salt panners. The significance and the intertwining of their lives is no coincidence.

Having used mind cultivation and observation, the monks found out that the salt panners from the salt pans hardly ever had skin conditions as well as rheumatic diseases in spite of their constant exposure to the sun. For the purpose of alleviation and treatment of these problems, they gradually started to use the by-products of traditional salt cultivation, namely salt pan mud (fango) and brine (Aqua Madre). Thus, mind and salt cultivation helped develop thalassotherapy as well as health tourism in Portorož during the course of centuries.

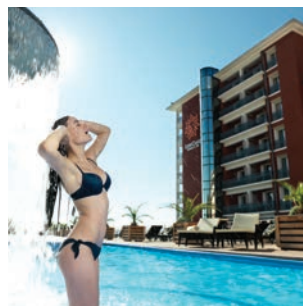

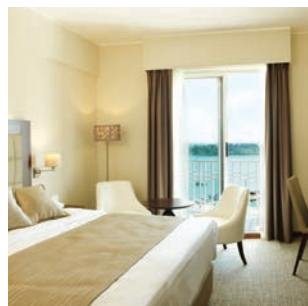

Salt cultivation = mind cultivation. Careful and delicate salt cultivation in the sun-drenched mirror-like fields brings tolerance, balance, health and the essence of life. Both mind cultivation and salt cultivation require care and precision. They create life. Health. Are extraordinary.
